ST. LOUIS REPUBLICAN.
A Journal of News and Politics.
PROSPECTUS FOR 1875.

The Republican will begin the New Year with a subscription list greatly increased over that of any previous year and with a general business justifying enlarged arrangements for the publication of the best newspaper in the West. Having special correspondents at all the principal centres, and enjoying the advantages of an extensive telegraph service, its facilities are unrivalled for collecting news. Its corps of editors and reporters is full, embracing gentlemen of experience and admitted excellence in their several departments. The editorial tone for which the Republican has achieved so much fame will be maintained, and in the discussion of the current topics of the day, this journal will aim to enforce its views with consistency and vigor, but with moderation and candor.

Free to comment upon events in the political world from a standpoint of true Western independence, the Republican will not disappoint those who look to it to advocate hereafter the conservative doctrines for which it has battled so long and so earnestly. The usurpations of the Washington administration—profligacy, recklessness by those in authority—the attempt to perpetuate tyranny by the centralization of power—will meet no toleration. The emancipation of the South from military and "carpet-bag" domination —the deliverance of the West from the bondage of the Eastern monopolists—these will be matters of profound concern and constant attention. But with them the development of the vast material interests of the Mississippi valley—the encouragement of the spirit of enterprise and progress—the improvement of our national water ways—in short the inauguration of a Western and Southern business policy, will engage a large share of the Republican's efforts. The paper will strive to promote the success of proper measures and of proper men, looking for its reward not to the praise of party hacks, but to the commendation and encouragement of the whole people.

A Representative and Champion of American Art Taste.
PROSPECTUS FOR 1875--EIGHTH YEAR
THE ALDINE,
THE ART JOURNAL OF AMERICA, Issued Monthly.

"A magnificent conception, wonderfully carried out."

The necessity of a popular medium for the representation of the productions of our great artists, has always been recognized, and many attempts have been made to meet the want. The successive failures which so invariably followed each attempt in this country to establish an art journal, did not prove the indifference of the people of America to the claims of high art. So soon as a proper appreciation of the want and an ability to meet it were shown, the public at once rallied with enthusiasm to its support, and the result was a great artistic and commercial triumph—The Aldine.

The Aldine, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals.
It is an excellent miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of The Aldine will be most appreciated after it is bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness as compared with rivals of a similar nature, The Aldine is a unique and original creation—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there is the chromo, besides!

The national features of The Aldine must be taken in no narrow sense. True art is cosmopolitan. While The Aldine is a strictly American institution, it does not confine itself entirely to the reproduction of native art.
Its mission is to cultivate a broad and appreciative art taste, one that will discriminate only on grounds of intrinsic merit. Thus, while placing before the patrons of The Al-dine, as a leading characteristic, the productions of the most noted American artists, attention will always be given to specimens from foreign masters, giving subscribers all the pleasures and instructions obtainable from home or foreign sources.

The artistic illustration of American scenery, original with The Aldine, is an important feature, and its magnificent plates are of a size more appropriate to the satisfactory treatment of details than can be afforded by any inferior page. The judicious intersper-sion of landscapes, marine, figure and animal subjects, sustain an unabated interest, impossible where the scope of the work confines the artist too closely to a single style of subject. The literature of The Aldine is a light and graceful accompaniment, worthy of the artistic features, with only such technical disquisitions as do not interfere with the popular interest of the work.

PREMIUM FOR 1875.
Every subscriber for 1875 will receive a beautiful portrait, in oil colors, of the same dog whose picture in a former issue attracted so much attention.

"MAN'S UNSELFISH FRIEND" will be welcomed in every home. Everybody loves such a dog, and the portrait is executed so true to life, that it seems the veritable presence of the animal itself. The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage tells that his own Newfoundland dog (the finest in Brooklyn) barks at it! Although so natural, no one who sees this premium chromo will have the slightest fear of being bitten.

Besides the chromo, every advance subscriber to The Aldine for 1875 is constituted a member, and entitled to all the privileges of

THE ALDINE ART UNION.
The Union owns the originals of all The Aldine pictures; which with other paintings and engravings, are to be distributed among the members. To every series of 5,000 subscribers, 100 different pieces valued at $2,500 are distributed as soon as the series is full, and the awards of each series as made, are to be published in the next succeeding issue of The Aldine. This feature only applies to subscribers who pay for one year in advance.
Full particulars in circulars sent on application enclosing a stamp.

Aldine one year, the Chromo and the Art Union,
